NOTHING TODAY

Counterfeiters Arraigned and Their Trials Set.

None of Them Has Yet Been Heard By the Federal Authorities Here.

DOCTOR PUCKETT WAIVES

There have been no new developments in the counterfeiting cases today. This morning the four men arrested yesterday near Dexter, Calloway county, were arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Armour Gardner and Dr. Puckett waived examination, being held in the sum of $1,000, which he gave.

The case against John Wyatt was set for Saturday, the case against E. D. Thompson and Robert Duncan, arrested day before yesterday, was set for Wednesday next.

The case against M. G. Warren was set for Thursday and Horace Warren, his son, also waived examination and was held to answer in the sum of $1,000, which he gave.

It is said government officers are hot on the trail of the persons who made the bogus $20 bills that have been passed. It is also said that the prisoners will expose them at the trials.

It is claimed that Wyatt is the man who passed a counterfeit $20 bill on a woman living on a shanty boat some time ago, the bill soon afterwards being passed by her to a merchant. Wyatt claims he got the bill from a man living near Blood river, Calloway county.

Warren, Sr., is alleged to have passed a $20 bill here on Morrill Friedman, the wholesale liquor dealer, who notified him of it by mail, and received good money in exchange.

Another claim is that a bogus $20 bill, or the same one, was afterwards passed by the elder Warren on Dr. Puckett who in turn passed it on Warren's son, who today waived examination.

The affair seems very much mixed, and it is said the photograph plates will be recovered in a day or two, showing who has been making the money, and how so much of it came to be circulation in this part of the state.

It was expected that some of the cases would be tried today before Commissioner Gardner, but none was ready for trial.

THREE CHILDREN BURNED.

Salina, O., Jan. 27.—The three small children of Henry Feisinger, of Rockport, north of this city, were burned to death in a fire that destroyed the farmhouse.

The dead are: Elnora Feisinger, aged 13; George Feisinger, aged 10; Elva Feisinger, aged 6; fatally injured, Mrs. Henry Feisinger, aged 35; mother of the children. The children were sleeping in a room directly above the summer kitchen.

PERPLEXED.

"Dear me," sighed Reginald Uffingwood, "I am in a dudge of a pickle."

"How so, dear chap?" asked Charlie Washburn.

"Why, Miss Orchid writes that she would like an Angora for a Christmas present, and I don't know if she means a cat or a goat."—Chicago News.

NEWS NOTES.

William Carson Black, the leader of the minority in the house, will in all probability enter the race for congress in the Eleventh district.

It is now believed that the murder of Miss Sarah Schaefer in Bedford Ind., was the result of a case of mistaken identity, but no clue to the murderer has been found.

Mrs. Mendenhall and daughter, Miss Tennessee Mendenhall, will leave this week for their home in Memphis, after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Reper.

THREE TO HANG

Pembroke Murderers Brought to the City Today.

Sheriff From Christian Brings Seven in All to Place in Our Jail.

FOUR YET TO BE TRIED

Sheriff L. R. Davis, of Hopkinsville, Christian county, Ky., arrived in the city this morning with Frank Sherman, Bill Garratt, Ed Holland, Frank Masie, George Holland, Dick Carney and Frank Merriweather, colored, for safe keeping.

The former four are being held on the charge of murder while the latter three have already been convicted and sentenced to hang for murder. The negroes were brought here for safe keeping, in case an attempt would be made by friends to secure them from the Hopkinsville jail. They are alleged to have killed an unknown man at Pembroke, Ky., November 14, and it is the first time three sentenced to hang were ever in the jail here at the same time.

The other four are to be tried in April.

ONE GETS RELEASE

Paducah Steamboat Men Have Partial Success.

Expect a New Hearing in the Steamboat Tax Cases—Ryman Line Let Out.

Attorney E. W. Bagby and Mr. Saunders A. Fowler have returned from Frankfort, Ky., where they went to secure a new hearing from the court of appeals in the steamboat cases where the state revenue agents attempted to make them pay a franchise tax.

The State agent brought suit against the Ryman line, St. Louis and Tennessee River Packet Co., and the Tennessee and Ohio river Packet Co., to compel them to pay a franchise tax, and a judgment was rendered against the steamboat lines. The Paducah gentlemen tried to secure a new hearing and succeeded in securing a dismissal in regard to the Ryman line. The other two steamboat company cases are under consideration and it is thought they, too, will be dismissed.

"This decision will mean a great deal," one of those interested explained, "and will affect every steamship and steamboat line in this country if other states follow the example set by Kentucky. This is the first steamboat case of its kind brought up, and no other state has paid any attention to the steamboat lines but Kentucky. We hope to have the case dismissed as a new hearing has been given us, and we think the commercial value of the steamboat lines will be recognized and the matter dropped. The other states recognize the commercial value and have not interfered with the river companies."

The principal claim of the local river men is that the state has nothing to do with the rivers, which are owned by the government.

MORE EFFECTIVE.

"John," said the annoyed mother, "Ethel has too many young men calling. Won't you try your hand at discouraging them?"

"No," replied the stern father, "I'll try my foot."

A GOOD MAN.

"Is he a capable advance agent?" "Very. He advanced himself $5,000 for his first month's expenses."

DIED IN CHAIR

Mrs. Hannah Dounoy, an Aged Citizen, Dies.

Probably Died From Heart Disease Today Early—Colored Child Smothered.

CORONER IS INVESTIGATING

Mrs. Hannah Dounoy, of 319 South Second street, was found dead this morning about 9 o'clock at her home. She was still partly in her arm chair, and had evidently been dead some time.

She usually retired early, and it was supposed had followed her usual custom. This morning when the servant went to wake her, she was found with head on her breast, dead.

The deceased was born in Ireland, but had been a resident of Paducah for many years. She is said to have been 73 years old, and had been living on South Second street for many years.

She has one daughter, Louise Dounoy, who has been out of the city for some weeks. She had no other relatives, so far as is known.

Coroner William Peal was called to Plunkett's Hill neighborhood this morning to hold an inquest over the remains of an infant child of Margaret or Bertha Bell, colored, who either froze to death last night or was smothered to death in the bed at the residence on 402 South 11th street.

The mother telephoned the police station this morning asking for the services of Coroner Peal. It was understood at the police station that the negro woman's older child was sleeping with the infant and accidentally rolled over on it. Coroner Peal decided death was from natural causes.

The verdict of the coroner's jury will no doubt be death from heart failure or apoplexy. Her daughter is in St. Louis, and is expected tomorrow to attend the funeral, the time for which has not been set.

COLD WEATHER

CAPT. JOE WOODS SAYS THIS IS LIKE SUMMER TIME IN COMPARISON.

Captain Joe Woods, of the Paducah police force, who brought Clarence Ingram back from Minneapolis, Minn., yesterday afternoon, stated this morning that he experienced the most extreme cold weather he ever felt.

"When I reached Minneapolis," he stated, "the thermometer registered 40 degrees below zero and at Stillwater, on the river a few miles from there, it registered 43 below."

"I got snowbound on a train at Odon, between Cairo and Chicago, and remained there for more than three hours. It is a trip I will long remember."

AFFECTS PADUCAH

WILL THIS BILL IF IT BECOMES A LAW.

A bill has passed in the house at Frankfort which will affect Paducah, should it pass in the senate.

It provides that in counties having cities of the second class the county clerk, instead of the sheriff, will become a member of the election board. This is special or class legislation, but if it passes it will result in County Clerk Charles Graham instead of Sheriff Lee Potter being a member of the election board.

COUNTY COURT.

Annie S. Barnhill deeds to the L. and N. road for $1 and other considerations property near the Thompson stock yards.

WANTS TO RESTRAIN

Rehkopf Company Filed Its Injunction Today.

Sues for Restraining Order in Circuit Court and for $20,000 Damages Against Union.

TRIAL FOR FEBRUARY 2ND

A restraining order is asked in a suit filed today by the E. Rehkopf company, of Paducah, against the members of Union No. 2, Leatherworkers, asking that they be restrained from interfering in any way with the non-union employees of the plants, or the business of the same.

Individual members of the union, said to be as follows, are made parties to the suit: Ed Alexander, James Lowe, Cliff Senter, Columbus Ransom, Thomas Warren, John Sanders, Chris Pruess, Charles Zeiss, Jack Holland, James Sanders, O. Evans, Al Rudolph, Will Goodman, Will Burch, Rufus Story, Frank Earhart, Hall Wallace, Charles Phillips, Max Pruess, Matt McInery, Joe Green, Enoch Fletcher, Joe Hurst, Frank Wiseman, Brownie Graham, Steve Fahay, Frank Hambrick, Henry Schoenberg, Sam Copperwaite, Fred Brabie, Oscar Denker, Ed Yeltima, Charles Swender, Loesser, George Swender, Buford Ullman, Richard Martin, Ike Anderson, J. T. Meyers, Tom Gardner, William Kurtz, Albert Womble, Will Surges, James Ellis, Emmert Holland, Jim Griffin, W. C. Edrington, Thomas Smith, Andy Hooley, John Rupertus, Joseph Frasier, George Chastaine, James Walker, Richard Woods, Dan Cummins, George Holifield, Thomas Coyle, Babcock, Joseph Spitzmiller, Frank Peterson, Edward Antone, Thomas Clark, James Welsh, Willie Crawford, Ed Bulger.

In addition to the injunction to prevent an interference with his business, Mr. Rehkopf asks for $20,000 damages against the members of the union and the union itself.

It is claimed that the firm has many contracts to fill, and that the defendants have interfered by striking and by keeping others who desire to work from working by enticing and intimidating them from work.

Little more than already published has been learned in regard to the assault made day before yesterday on two employees of the Rehkopf plant who had come here from other places to work. The alleged assailants have not been caught.

Leatherworkers claim that they have had nothing to do with any disorders.

Judge Wm. Reed has set February 2 as the day for hearing the motion for a restraining order.

ICE MAY SINK COAL

Great Damage Likely Near Louisville.

Suspect Arrested at Louisville For the Murder of the Bedford, Ind., School Teacher.

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 27.—Millions of bushels of coal are in imminent danger at Pumpkin Patch, and heavy forces of men are at work to save the barges harbored there. Already the fleet has suffered from the heavy ice. Several barges were sunk there early this morning, but none of the fleet has broken loose.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 27.—Harry Behr, dark haired, was taken under detention by Louisville detectives who think he is guilty of the murder of Miss Schaefer, the school teacher of Bedford, whose mysterious death has attracted national attention. The suspected man says he is from Memphis, Tenn., and is about thirty, and tall, with dark hair. He has been in hiding here with negroes since last Friday.

HEAVY ICE

Stops Packets in the Ohio River Again.

The Sprague Left Today for Louisville, Followed by Other Boats.

The Ohio river this morning presented a most forlorn appearance to the river men, being full of slowly floating ice which makes navigation impossible.

The ice began to flow heavy last night and this morning is so thick in some places that a person can walk across. This is the big gorge which broke loose at Cincinnati several days ago and has been slowly working its way down. The greater portion of the gorge got hung up at Carrsville and caused the Joe Fowler to turn back there yesterday. The ice at Carrsville was caked up to the height of several feet.

This morning the big steel hull Sprague left for Louisville with a small tow of barges and will crush through the ice floes. Following the Sprague the J. B. Finley left. The Finley was followed by the Harry Brown which in turn was followed by the Cruiser.

The Sprague will open the way for the other boats which are not fortunate enough to have steel hulls. The ice is very thick and the boats will necessarily go slow.

ABOUT THE CITY HALL

Girl Wanted for Housebreaking Arrested at Mayfield.

A Number of Small Robberies and Burglaries Reported to the Police.

ORDINANCE COMMITTEE MET

Officer Albritton, of Mayfield, arrived in the city at noon with Mary Clark, a negro girl about 14 years of age, charged with house breaking.

The girl was arrested in Mayfield and is alleged to have broken into the residence of Mr. A. F. Lagerwahl, agent for the American Express company here, Saturday and stolen a watch and other jewelry.

The girl took the key which had been hung on the front wall and entered the house. She then searched all drawers in the house and took everything of value. An express man came to the residence that afternoon to deliver a bundle and the girl thought it was some one returning home and fled, carrying but little stuff away with her. She left the principal part of the goods on the floor.

H. A. Fretwell, of the Lone Oak section, attempted to put his pocketbook in his pocket this morning on market and missed the pocket. The purse fell to the ground and it is claimed was snatched by Clyde Nance, of Pottsville, Graves county. Nance took the $25.20 out of the pocketbook and threw the book into a stall in the Isaman wagon yard. Officers Hurley and Cross began an investigation and recovered the money. Nance was accompanied by another boy but claims he intended to turn the money over to the owner when it was called for. The boys claim they did not attempt to steal the pocketbook and will not be prosecuted.

The plumber shop of Mr. Mart Coulson, No. 116 South Seventh street, was broken into last night but as far as Mr. Coulson could learn, nothing was taken.

Entrance was effected through a side window which was broken out, and after the burglar or burglars had gotten in, opened the door from the inside. A cigar butt was found in the building and the door was found standing wide open this morning. Mr. Coulson kept no money at the shop and has missed no tools. It is evident the burglars made a poor haul.

The ordinance committee of both boards met last night to consider charter amendments and referred the matter to the presidents of the boards and Mayor D. A. Yeiser. Mayor Yeiser stated that he would try to get the two chairmen together today and have a talk. There will be much correspondence to attend to before the amendments are settled on.

Hunters report a Jersey cow in a pitiful condition between La Belle park and Paducah. They found the cow lying in the snow nearly frozen and unable to walk, both legs being either frozen or broken.

Mr. John E. Friant, the blacksmith, reported to the police this morning that he lost his fine gold watch in some way. He had the watch on the inside vest pocket and can not imagine how it was lost.

COAL MEN OF STATE

The Annual Meeting Held in Louisville.

The Past Year Was a Good One and Prospects Are Very Good.

FINANCES. NOT DISCUSSED

The annual meeting of the coal operators of Kentucky was held at Louisville and Mr. T. J. Flournoy, of Paducah, is representing the coal interests of this part of the state. Twenty men represented about forty companies which do business in the state. The character and volume of the trade in the past year were discussed, and the prospects for business in 1904 were also touched upon.

E. G. Schree presided.

The reports which were submitted to the meeting showed the volume of coal production in Kentucky for the year 1903 to have been the largest in the history of the mining industry of the state. A large number of new mines were opened during the year, and the mines which had been in operation formerly worked on an increased capacity. The transportation accommodations had not been all that were desired, but showed substantial improvements over 1902.

The prospects for the year 1904 warranted the coal operators in believing that the current year would surpass 1903. The mines of the state are running at full capacity, and the conditions at the south, where Kentucky coal is moving in largely increased quantities, are promising, the high price of cotton having brought about greater prosperity than the people have known heretofore in the past few years.

The question of prices and all features connected with the financial operations of the coal companies were not touched upon, it was said, as the meeting did not embrace that side of the industry.

A BRIEF RECIPE FOR MELODRAMA

UNKNOWN RHYMESTER OUTLINES PLOT OF THRILLER WITH ALL THE ESSENTIALS.

The curtain rises on a scene in which is shown a dark ravine. With shady elm trees scattered 'round and withered leaves strewn o'er the ground.

The hero comes, a mountaineer, young, handsome, with no thought of fear.

His only mode of doing ill is running an illicit "still" (Which, in the mountains, is not thought despicable unless you're caught). Emerging from behind a clump of firs, he perches on a stump and, in a moment indiscreet, He drops his rifle at his feet.

Enter the villain, with a pack of hired scoundrels at his back, And, just as fiercely as he can, He bellows, "Take him—there's your man!"

They mix—it is a thrilling sight, And though 'tis a one-sided fight,

The hero lands a few right swings And with an uppercut he brings

The villain crashing to the floor— He fights till he can fight no more.

They lock him in a mountain cave And then all make their exit save

The villain—when they're out of sight He takes a lot of dynamite,

Ten sticks, perhaps, or maybe more, And plants it 'neath the prison door,

Exclaiming, "I'll fulfill my vow, Curse him! he'll not escape me now

Unless this fuse is dampened some I'll blow him clear to Kingdom

Come!"

Then, with a few loud oaths and sneers He lights the fuse and disappears.

Enter the heroine (for you know The melodrama's built just so,

Something is lacking in the plot When she's not found upon the spot.)

Entering she beholds the fuse And sees that there's no time to lose;

She gathers up the deadly load, Now almost ready to explode,

And with the strength of twenty men She hurls it far adown the glen,

Where it explodes with awful force Near where the villain stands, of course,

Filling the air with stones and sand And desiccated villain, and,]

And as luck will have it, breaking loose

The door of the grim calaboose. The hero then, without delay,

Steps briskly forth and walks away, His fair preserver by his side—

He asks her if she'll be his bride. "Yes, darling," she replies, "I will Providin' you'll give up the still."

The orchestra begins to play Soft, trembly music just as they Walk off the stage and close the door; The curtain drops—the play is o'er.

EXCITING TIME

MEN FROM PADUCAH STUCK BY WASHOUT.

R. F. McClain and Roy Moorehead returned from Paducah Monday after an experience that they do not want to again endure, says the Mayfield Messenger. They left here Thursday for Paducah after several wagon loads of goods.

Saturday morning after the big rain on their return they got to Mayfield creek near Leader in safety, but when one of the wagons started across, it struck a washout and there it stuck. For seven hours Mr. McClain and Mr. Moorehead were in the cold water from knee deep to waist deep. In trying to pull out they broke two wheels down. They never succeeded in getting out until the water went down. They got back here Monday morning.

NO ONE BLAMED.

THE DECEASED REFUSED TO HAVE A DOCTOR.

Coroner Peal after holding an inquest over the remains of Mrs. Lillie Porter, who died in Littleville from consumption, decided that she died from natural causes and that no one was to blame for the fact that she had no doctor, as she herself refused, although her family wanted to have one for her. The funeral was preached by Mr. Shreve, a Christian Science leader, and the remains were buried at Oak Grove.

A poll of the state senate yesterday showed a majority of the senators opposed to the reindictment of the Kansas City platform.

BRIDGES ON OHIO

Cause Immense Loss to Steamboat Men.

Congress Appoints a Sub-committee to Ascertain How Many are Menaces.

VESSELS OFTEN TO BLAME

Washington, Jan. 27.—The house committee on rivers and harbors has taken a step which eventually may result in radical changes in the construction of a large number of the bridges which span the Ohio river. A sub-committee was appointed to ascertain which of these structures are obstacles to navigation, to investigate the damages caused by them, the necessary method of improving or reconstructing them, and the extent to which the federal government can require the owners to alter them. There are nearly a score of large bridges across the Ohio, and each year the losses sustained by vessels through collisions aggregate hundreds of thousands of dollars. In the calendar year 1901 the reported losses as the result of collisions with bridges was $976,000.

Nearly every year the rivers and harbors committee is confronted with this same problem, and in the last river and harbor act the secretary of war was directed to prepare a list of the bridges which are an impediment to safe and convenient navigation, and to state the nature and extent of the modification required in each of them. He was also authorized to inform congress whether necessary changes in the bridges could be secured under existing laws, and if not, what legislation was necessary in order to secure the proper alterations. Thus far the committee has not received this report.

Most of the damages sustained by vessels is by collision with piers, which stand in the channel of the river. It is asserted that the figures of the losses given annually by the engineers are greatly in excess of the actual damages incurred. It is claimed, furthermore, that in many cases the collisions are the result of carelessness on the part of the vesselmen.

Another sub-committee was appointed to inquire into the liability of the government for losses to abutting property sustained by the rise or fall of water caused by river and harbor works. The United States supreme court recently handed down a decision which held that the government was liable for losses thus caused along the Savannah river.

"No More Aches and Pains."

No. 826 Perdido Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA., March 27, 1903.

For over nine years I had been troubled with leucorrhoea. The discharge was yellowish at times but after the menstrual period it would become reddish, acid and excoriating. This exhausted my system. I was continually tired while my appetite was poor, my digestion very bad and my sleep fitful and feverish. Wine of Cardui was the one remedy which helped me in my distress. I soon found that it relieved the pain and imbued me with new strength and after the use of 22 bottles I was well. No more discharge. No more aches and pains and oh, what relief, only those who have had my experience can appreciate the value of such a fine medicine as Wine of Cardui.

Anna D. Moore
VICE-PRESIDENT, UNITED DAUGHTERS' INDUSTRIAL CLUB.

WINE of CARDUI

Does not this letter convince the most skeptical sufferer that Wine of Cardui will bring her health? It is difficult to imagine a case where there are more discouraging features than this before Mrs. Moore began taking Wine of Cardui. Leucorrhoea is an inflammation of the vagina. It is really decay in the vital organs of womanhood. This inflammation often drives women into the direst stages of nervous excitement. At the menstrual period the continual itching is accompanied by the utmost agony. The life of the woman who lets this trouble run on as Mrs. Moore did is one of misery. But Mrs. Moore did not know what medicine to take to cure it. When she had Wine of Cardui brought to her attention she took it and continued the treatment until she was cured. The case was a chronic one and it took persistent effort to bring a permanent cure.

This cure can be secured by any woman who takes Wine of Cardui. Mrs. Moore tried everything else and continued to suffer. She tried Wine of Cardui and was cured. You can treat your case successfully in your own home and nobody need know anything about it. Secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui today and begin the treatment.

Mrs. Anna D. Moore.

Weakness in Men

A Michigan Specialist Finds an Easy Way to Cure Any Case of Sexual Weakness Even in the Oldest Men. This Wonderful Cure Has a Most Marvellous Record of Successes.

SENT FREE TO ALL WHO APPLY IN WRITING

There are thousands of cheerless homes in this country filled with discontent and unhappiness, lacking in love and companionship through the sexual weakness and physical impairment of a man whose years do not justify such a condition. Indiscretions, abuses and recklessness often cause a temporary cessation of vital power that instantly yields to the wonderful treatment discovered by the great specialist, Dr. H. C. Raynor, of Detroit, Michigan. It has remained for this great physician to discover that sexual weakness and similar troubles can be cured and in remarkable short space of time. This treatment does not ruin the stomach, adding the miseries such injury entails, but it is a new treatment that easily and quickly restores youthful vigor to men as old as 85.

The discovery is beyond doubt the most scientific and comprehensive that our attention has ever been called to. From all sides we hear private reports of cures in stubborn cases of sexual weakness, enlargement of the prostate, varicocele, spermatorrhea, lost manhood, impotency, emissions, premature, shrunken organs, lack of virile power, bashfulness and timidity and like unnatural conditions. It does this without appliances, vacuum pumps, electric belts or anything of that kind.

Satisfactory results are produced in a day's use and a perfect cure in a short time, regardless of age or the cause of your condition.

The lucky discoverer simply desires to get in touch with all men who can make use of such a treatment. They should address him in confidence, Dr. H. C. Raynor, 161 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and immediately on receipt of your name and address it is his agreement with this paper to send you a free receipt or formula of this modern treatment by which you can cure yourself at home.

A MAN DROWNED

Said to Have Been Jess Tillman, Colored Coal Carrier.

Body Floated out of Beach and Sank and Was Not Recovered.

According to employees on the wharf boat a colored coal carrier fell between a barge and the Dick Fowler yesterday afternoon when the boat was coaling, and was drowned. An oar was put out to him but he was unable to grasp it probably because the cold water paralyzed him.

Watchman Joe Waggoner then got a boat hook, but by this time the man had floated down the river and sunk.

No one on the boat seemed to know who it was except the foreman of the coal gang. He stated that it was Jess Tillman, of South Eighth street, Paducah, a man with a wife and two children.

An effort was made to find the body, but it was unsuccessful, the swift current probably carrying it away down the river.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 27.—A handsome oil portrait of former Governor Bradley has been received at the state executive department and will be hung in either that department or the Kentucky historical department. The painting is by Jessie Anderson Rue, and it is mounted in a handsome frame which is the handiwork of Clell Fowler. The frame, which is of gold leaf, contains a reproduction of the state seal at the top. On the lower portion of the frame is a plate giving the name, "William O'Connell Bradley," and beneath it three small brass plates, on which are embossed paragraphs from the inaugural address of the governor in 1895, from his proclamation pardoning the negro, George Dinning, of Simpson county, and a paragraph from his message to the general assembly at the session of 1898 relative to the erection of a battle monument at Chickamauga.

The cold wave continues in the western and central states.

NO LONGER MYSTERY

GREAT EGYPTIAN MONUMENT A COLOSSAL IMAGE OF THE GOD OF MORNING.

The Sphinx is no longer a mystery nor was it intended to represent a woman, writes William E. Curtis in the Chicago Record-Herald, from Cairo. The inquisitiveness of modern antiquarians has solved the greatest enigma that ever perplexed mankind. No other relic of antiquity has been the object of more discussion or the subject of wilder theories, legends and superstitions. During the last two thousand years a whole library of books has been written about it, and at times controversy as to its age, significance and purpose have been very active. While its age is still unknown, and no facts connected with its origin have come down to us, yet within the last few years Egyptologists have shown that it is nothing but a colossal image or portrait of Ra-Harmachis, God of the Morning, Conqueror of Darkness, and hence it faces the Rising Sun.

This was recently disclosed by inscriptions discovered upon the walls of a temple which lies underneath and around the Sphinx and the discovery was largely due to Colonel Ram, an American soldier, who has been engaged for several years in excavations there. He has uncovered the foundations of the great statue and has brought to light many interesting features which until recently were unknown. The temple surrounding the base was intended for the worship of Harmachis and several chambers hewn in the rock were the tombs of kings and priests devoted to his worship. In 1896 Colonel Ram discovered a stone cap with a sacred asp carved on the forehead, which once covered the head of the Sphinx like a royal helmet, and must have added immensely to its grandeur, particularly if it was gilded, as Colonel Ram believes.

RHEUMATISM WRECKS THE NERVES AND UNDERMINES THE HEALTH

Rheumatism is not only the most painful, but oftentimes the most formidable and dangerous of all diseases. The constitution gives way, nerves are wrecked, health undermined and life made a misery and torture by the terrible pains and aches. Rheumatism is bad enough, even in its lightest form; but when it becomes chronic and the muscles and sinews grow hard and stiff and the joints immovable and fixed, it shows what the disease can do, and the far-reaching effects of this most terrible of all human maladies. Rheumatism is caused by uric, lactic and other acid particles in the blood, and every muscle, joint and fibre that these acid poisons touch become inflamed and sore, tender and painful. These acids cause fermentation in the blood, rendering it sour and unfit for the proper nourishment of the body. The nervous system breaks down for lack of rich, pure blood; the skin becomes red, swollen, feverish and puffy; the disease is aggravated and the pain intensified by every movement of muscle or joint, and there is no rest or ease for the almost frantic sufferer as long as the blood remains in this abnormal and unnatural condition. When Rheumatism is in the blood and system you may expect all sorts of complications. The heart-muscles often are affected, causing irregularity and weakness of this vital organ. The liver and kidneys act slowly, the stomach, digestion and appetite fail, all because of a too acid, sour and unhealthy blood. Exposure to cold and wet, night air, damp, foggy weather and chilly east winds, make Rheumatism worse and are exciting causes, but the real source of the disease is in the blood. Arteries and veins are fired with the poisonous acids, and exposure is the match that sets the whole circulation aflame and brings out all the distressing symptoms of Rheumatism.

Home remedies, such as liniments, blisters and plasters, have a place in the treatment of Rheumatism in certain stages. When properly applied they relieve temporarily the pain and redness, the inflammation and swelling; but you can never reach the real seat of the disease from without; the cure must come from within, and it requires a remedy that can bring the blood back to its original purity, that can relieve the circulation of all irritating acids and stimulate the sluggish organs and all parts of the system before a permanent cure of Rheumatism is effected. S. S. S. acts as a purifier of the blood, toning up the nervous system; it neutralizes and filters out of the blood the acids and poisons and restores it to a pure and healthy state, and arouses all the bodily organs to better action, and the waste and refuse that has been collecting in the system is promptly carried off through the natural channels; and the cause of Rheumatism being removed, the pains and aches stop.

S. S. S. contains no mercury, potash, opiates, alkalies or other harmful drugs, but is a guaranteed strictly vegetable compound. Where the nerves have been wrecked and the health undermined, S. S. S. will be found the ideal remedy, as it enriches and invigorates the thin, acid blood, and at the same time builds up the debilitated system. Until the blood has been thoroughly cleansed and purified there is no permanent relief from the tortures of Rheumatism. Write for our special book on Rheumatism, containing much information which every sufferer will find interesting and useful. If in need of medical advice, our physicians will gladly furnish it without charge.

MINERS KILLED.

SHAFT CAGE FELL AND FIFTEEN WERE KILLED.

Victor, Col., Jan. 27.—Fifteen men were killed in an accident at Stratton Independence mine near the center of this city, and the dead are: W. B. Frazier, John Sebeck, John Setherun, Edward Twigg, L. A. Wagoner, H. A. Yeoman, Edward Smith, Joe Ovary, H. F. Brown, W. B. Collins, J. L. Steward, Frank Cochran, L. P. Jackson, A. C. Statten, Harry Cogane. Injured: James Bullock, badly bruised.

In the main shaft 16 men were being hoisted in a cage from the sixth, seventh and eighth levels. When the cage reached the surface the engineer, for some unexplained reason, was unable to stop the engine, and the cage, with its load of human freight, was drawn up into the gallow's frame, where it became lodged temporarily. The strain on the cable finally caused it to part, and the cage, released, shot down the shaft with terrific speed.

Two of the occupants, L. P. Jackson and James Bullock, had become entangled in the timber rods near the top of the gallow's frame. Jackson was crushed to death by the sheave wheel falling upon him, while Bullock had a marvelous escape from death, but received painful injuries, and was rescued from his perilous position.

ANOTHER MISTAKE.

The "grandfather clause" bill is another of those periodic attempts of Kentucky Democratic politicians to gain absolute and perpetual control of the state so they will be able to raid the treasury in the future as they have done in the past. It seems that the ring-leaders in the legislature are those grafters who have an eye to future aggrandizement or gain, and whose success depends on Democratic supremacy in Kentucky. Others who appear to be in favor of it are those insipid men sent to the legislature for some reason, certainly not because of ability however, who allow themselves to be persuaded into voting for this or that measure because it is "Democratic" and because they are told by the demagogues that democrats in other states have done it.

We see no occasion for Kentucky Democrats making any mistake in the matter. There is no necessity for such a law in Kentucky, as is pointed out even by some democratic papers, however expedient such legislation may be regarded in other states.

It would be well for Democrats to review the political history of Kentucky for the past several years. A few years ago the Democrats, alarmed by a political revolution which gave Kentucky to the Republicans, decided to make Kentucky permanently and everlastingly Democratic by an unfair election law. Under it Republicans were allowed to vote, but their vote could then be—and in many cases subsequently were—thrown out. Under this new law now before the legislature it is hoped to keep many Republicans from voting at all.

In the other case an able senator led astray enough other members of the legislature to pass the bill. In the strife and bitterness that followed, and before he became the beneficiary of his iniquitous law, his plans were upset and he was foully assassinated. The people are familiar with all those details. Kentucky has not yet recovered from the disgrace of those troublous times.

The Democrats themselves soon realized their mistake, and in a way rectified it by amending the offensive election law, but still left Kentucky with a partisan measure.

Is there any excuse for now making another mistake? Even if it were true that all colored voters were ignorant and depraved, which they are not, have the Democrats, in their proposed new law, taken any steps to disfranchise the illiterate and depraved white men who vote the Democratic ticket? They have not, and the fact that they have not shows clearly their purpose in wanting such a law.

It should be understood that the Republicans have no objection to an educational qualification which will affect one and all alike, the rich and poor, white and black, and good and bad. We believe that the passage of any other kind of a law will not meet with the approval of the people of Kentucky.

RESPONSIBILITY OF MAYORS.

The mayor of every city in the country should take warning from the trouble of the mayor of Chicago. After he had been warned of conditions that prevailed contrary to law he failed to act, and 600 people lost their lives indirectly because of his indifference and negligence.

While theater managers and others may be to blame for infractions of laws and rules, and for the deplorable fact that the people could not get out of the burning building, the mayor of Chicago and his inspectors are responsible for the fact that they were ever allowed to get in. They created the opportunity for the theater men to violate the law, and allowed them to do it.

The coroner's jury thus refers to Mayor Harrison:

"We hold Carter H. Harrison, as mayor of the city of Chicago, responsible, as he has shown a lamentable lack of force, and for his efforts to escape responsibility, evidenced by the testimony of Commissioner Williams and Fire Marshal Musham. As heads of departments under the said Carter H. Harrison, following this weak course, have given Chicago inefficient service, which makes such calamities as the Iroquois theater horror a menace until the public service is purged of incompetents."

Building Commissioner Williams was held "for gross neglect of his duty in allowing the theater to open its doors to the public when the said theater was incomplete, and did not comply with the building ordinances of the city of Chicago."

This coroner's verdict reveals plainly another thing, the constant danger to every citizen whose life, property and welfare are in the hands of incompetent men appointed to public office solely for political work or through political pull. Every city has more or less of them, and mayors are to blame for this, also.

If the Democrats were discriminating they could easily see the difference between a man like Mr. Cleveland and one like Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan, realizing the superiority of Mr. Cleveland, never misses an opportunity to abuse him, but Mr. Cleveland never deigns to notice Mr. Bryan. When asked what he thought about Mr. Bryan's declaration that no Palmer and Buckner man could get the Democratic presidential nomination, Mr. Cleveland only replied, "I have not a word to say on the matter except that Bryan has got the stage. Let him go to it." The lack of taste in Democrats is made up by the people in general, however, who repeatedly refuse to trust them with the management of government affairs.

The city needs money and if anything is due it from McCracken county on smallpox claims, suit should be filed at once to collect it. Claims against the county have been filed with fiscal court a number of times in recent years, and were either rejected, or referred and never heard of again. It is plain the county does not intend to pay any of the smallpox expenses unless it has to, and the quickest and surest way to ascertain whether or not it has to pay them is to file suit and let the courts decide. Fiscal court does not meet until April, and if the city wants until then to formally present its claims again, it will probably be only to have them again rejected, and thus lose a great deal of time.

The worm will turn. City authorities at Louisville refused to run out the slot machines, and enterprising sports who had been losing, are now dropping lead nickles into them in unlimited quantities. This is about the only way yet devised for beating the machines.

About all the sleuths and police know about the murder of a school teacher at Bedford, Ind., after several days of well advertised investigation aided by bloodhounds, clairvoyants, and other such auxiliaries, is that the victim is dead.

ter the state fair graft. It sometimes requires a very intimate association with modern methods of Kentucky Democrats to enable one to fully appreciate them.

Judging from the leisurely way the local legislative boards are going about the preparation of amendments they desire to the charter, they must intend them for the legislature two years hence.

It is now a question whether the new school book bill is intended to gouge the people or skin the book trusts. We may be able to see later on.

THE CRIME OF BASEBALL

(Louisville Herald.)

This man Jones in the legislature is awake and trimming his lamp like a wise virgin, for the hour of darkness is at hand. Mr. Jones' bill purposes to prohibit the playing of baseball on a Sunday. It ought really to be prohibited every day in the week. For baseball is plainly an immoral sport, leading our youth astray, taking quarters out of the pockets of the poor who could otherwise play them against slot machines and get much richer or poorer as the case might be.

If slot machines and pool rooms are to be permitted to run without objection ball games will detract largely from their profits during long summer afternoons. Thousands of misguided men, women and children can be found every day with their lungs wide open to fresh air, their eyes peeled to skillful plays and their tongues on trigger to roast an unspeakable umpire, when they might be standing around slot machines or watching the "start" and "finish" chalked up at pool rooms, helping to keep the poor police corner in this town in pocket money.

But why does Jones propose to make the sin of ball playing on Sunday merely a misdemeanor? A man like Jones ought to feel in the remotest convolutions of his vitals that baseball is at the very least a felony, and contended by some to be a capital crime. If the slot machine business is to be properly protected, we urge upon Jones to reconsider the frivolity of his great anti-baseball measure and make the punishment life imprisonment at the smallest. Then, indeed, will the even justice of our laws be triumphantly vindicated and Jones' harp and crown be safe against all envy and jealousy.

If there be an honest umpire in the general assembly, we demand that he call Jones out on a foul.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Little has been done in circuit court today, the morning and greater portion of the afternoon having been taken up by the trial of the suit of T. H. Smith against Tony Iseman, for $5,000 damages for slander. The case was given to the jury about 2:30 o'clock.

Ed Jones was excused as a petit juror and G. O. McBroom substituted. Cecil Reed, formerly of Benton, but now of Paducah, was admitted to the bar practice at this place. He is a son of Judge Wm. Reed.

On motion of the plaintiff the case of Alex Dotson against the I. C. railroad company was dismissed.

POLICE COURT.

The adultery case against Henry Wright and Mrs. Nellie Martena consumed most of the time today in police court, and both were fined $50 and costs. Both strenuously denied the charge.

A case against Arthur Dunn, George Chastaine, W. B. Ellis and Albert Womble, charged with assaulting two of the "scat" workmen at Rehkopf's, was partially heard and left open.

Tandy Osby was fined $10 and costs for a breach of ordinance.

A breach of the peace case against Will Vinegar was continued.

This afternoon the leather workers fight was again taken up and Arthur Dunn, who is not a member of the union, was fined $30 and costs and recognized in the sum of $300 for his future good behavior, and the case against Chastaine was dismissed, there being a conflict of evidence.

The time worn injunction, "Never put off 'til tomorrow what you can do today," is now generally presented in this form: "Do it today!" That is the terse advice we want to give you about that hacking cough or demoralizing cold with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. Take [some reliable remedy for it today—and let that remedy be Dr. Boschee's German Syrup, which has been in use for over thirty-five years. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough or cold, and its continued use for a few days will cure you completely. No matter how deep seated your cough, even if dread consumption has attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble. Girlish and Mannish America.

When it is here remarked that the male American is declaring symptoms of dawdling effeminacy no occasion is offered for indignant reprobation. The average American has so much thorough masculinity that he can spare enough to dower a less vigorous people. What is meant is that the natural reaction to the paramountcy of the American girl has set in. As she shares the pursuits, the pleasures and the liberties of her brothers and imposes her commands upon them she becomes more masculine, they more feminine; her shoulders square off, their begin to slope. She dons the sweater and the blazer and wears her skirts shorter and shorter; they take to pink shirtwaists and clocked open work stockings, and their ever baggy trousers, worn so long that they seem to be turned up at the bottom, become fashioned on a seraglio pattern.—New York Mail and Express.

This honored pastor, in a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio, says concerning their famous catarrh remedy, Peruna:

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Gentlemen: "I had hemorrhages of the lungs for a long time, and all despaired of me. I took Peruna and was cured. It gave me strength and courage, and made healthy, pure blood. It increased my weight, gave me a healthy color, and I feel well. It is the best medicine in the world. If everyone kept Peruna in the house it would save many from death every year."—H. Thousands of people have catarrh who would be surprised to know it, because it has been called some other name than catarrh. The fact is catarrh is catarrh wherever located; and another fact which is of equally great importance, is that Peruna cures catarrh wherever located.

COLUMBIA

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

The vestry of Grace Episcopal church, Paducah, Ky., upon the occasion of the sudden death of our beloved Bishop and friend appointed the undersigned as a committee to express in some measure their appreciation of his character as a man and a faithful servant of God.

As a man he was a big-brained and big-hearted, ever loyal to his convictions and to his friends; brave, strong and fearless in every right cause, yet as tender hearted and gentle as a woman to the erring. Intense in his sympathies for the sorrowing and suffering, munificent in his charities to the poor and needy.

As a husband and father ever loving and considerate, with marvelous strength and sweetness, faithful to every duty in the home life.

As a citizen of his city, state and country an illustrious model of wise patriotism, with all the qualities of mind and heart of the highest statesmanship.

As bishop of the Episcopal church he was renowned for his progressive, broad and liberal spirit, coupled with a wonderful balance of wise conservatism. His power and influence extended beyond the seas, a leader indeed, not only of the House of Bishops and the church at large, but a leader of men everywhere to all that is noble and true.

His loss to the Episcopal church, his country and to his beloved family and host of friends is irreparable. We have lost indeed not only our gifted and wise counsellor and "father in God" but a cherished, faithful and loving friend. While bowing in humble submission to the inscrutable Will of Divine Providence in taking him from us we thank God for the example of his noble life and character.

We extend our heartfelt deepest sympathies to the sorrowing members of his family and household, praying earnestly that God may by His grace sustain and comfort them in their grievous affliction.

Has Fine Voice at Eighty.
Thomas Hall, the octogenarian sculptor and painter, was one of the singers at a concert at Montclair, N. J., Saturday night. Fifty-five years ago Mr. Hall appeared in Boston in a performance of Mendelssohn's "Elijah" with the Handel and Haydn society. He was the first singer to undertake the role of Elijah in America and scored a great triumph. Saturday night he sang the baritone solo "Lord God of Abraham." His voice had apparently lost none of its power and every note was pure and clear.—New York World.

WITH THE SICK.

Mrs. R. L. Eley is ill.

DIFFERENT NOW

SINCE THE SLUGGER COFFEE WAS ABANDONED.

Coffee probably causes more biliousness and so called malaria than any one other thing—even bad climate. A Ft. Worth man says:

"I have always been of a bilious temperament, subject to malaria and up to one year ago a perfect slave to coffee and at times I would be covered with boils and full of malarial poison, was very nervous and had swimming in the head.

"I don't know how it happened but I finally became convinced that my sickness was due to the use of coffee and a little less than a year ago I stopped coffee and began drinking Postum. From that time I have not had a boil, not had malaria at all, have gained 15 pounds good solid weight and know beyond all doubt this is due to the use of Postum in place of coffee as I have taken no medicine at all.

"Postum has certainly made healthy red blood for me in place of the blood that coffee drinking impoverished and made unhealthy." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Postum makes red blood. There's a reason.

BEAUTIFUL CARD PARTY.

Mrs. Moses Bloom's card party on yesterday afternoon was a most delightful occasion and a charming compliment to visitors in the city. The handsome home on Jefferson street was attractively decorated in pink carnations which was the color-idea of the party.

The first prize, a silver cream and sugar set of antique design, was won by Miss Mary K. Sowell. Mrs. Herman Wallerstein won the second prize, a light green card case, mounted in gold. The guest prize, a white gauze chain fan, was captured by Mrs. Nora Smith of Dresden, Tenn. Mrs. A. B. Sowell secured the booby prize, a silver filigree chair, with a card attached advising: "Go way back and sit down."

The beautiful and elaborate luncheon, served by a St. Louis caterer, emphasized the pink carnation idea throughout. The peas were served in pink carnation baskets, and the ices, cakes and mints were in the same color-motive. The guest list was quite extensive.

STORIES ABOUT PEOPLE.

THE ONLY WAY.

At a cabinet meeting shortly after the birth of the republic of Panama the cabinet members were chaffing Secretary Hay about the revolution and the alleged part this country had in it in order to secure the canal concession.

"I used to hear a story," said Secretary Hay, "about 'Uncle Dick' Oglesby, who inspected Joliet state prison once when he was governor.

"He came to a cell in which a hideously ugly man was confined. The man was so ill favored that the governor asked about him.

"What's he in for?" he asked.
"He forced a young woman to elope with him at the point of a pistol," the keeper replied.

"Well," said Oglesby, "I guess I'll pardon him."

"Pardon him?" protested the warden; "why governor, the proof against him is absolute."

"I know," said the governor, "but he couldn't get her to marry him in any other way."—Philadelphia Post.

The Pessimistic Boy.

I don't kick and romp with glee
Cause the summer days are here;
I'm not filled with joy to see Scented flowers all appear.
And the balmy atmosphere
Doesn't make me hop with vim.
What's the use? Ma just said:
"Don't you dare go down to swim."
Merry thoughts don't rise in me,
As the daisies they come out.
I'm not filled with ecstasy
As the bees they buzz about;
I'm not filled up to the spout
With a lot of lazy wishin';
What's the use? Ma just said:
"Don't you dare to go off fishin'."
I don't dream the livelong day
Underneath a shady tree,
And if I want to stay
I would have been the same to me;
Summer don't fill me with glee
And I wish that it would pass;
What's the use? Ma just said:
"Don't you lie on that damp grass."

IN THE SCHOOLS

Interesting Subjects to be Discussed Saturday.

Cold Reduces the Attendance Only in Primary Grades.

The following program will be rendered Saturday morning at the monthly public school teachers' meeting.

I. THE FRENCH REVOLUTION.

Famous Women of the French Revolution—Miss Susanna Kirk.

The Napoleonic Wars—The aftermath of the Revolution or the enterprises of an ambitious but unscrupulous man?—Prof. E. G. Payne.

II. LITERATURE.

General subject, Robert Burns.
1. His strength and weakness—Miss Elizabeth Mohan.

2. Burns as exponent of rural virtues and censor of polite society—Miss Ella Larkin.

3. His democracy and emphasis of individual worth—Miss Elizabeth Singleton.

III. CURRENT EVENTS.

Literary—Miss Laura Thomas.
Religious—Miss Lillian Burdine.
Music and Art—Miss Cynthia Ewell.

The program is an excellent one and the teachers, knowing the work they have to do, come fully prepared. These monthly literary meetings are looked forward to with great pleasure by the teachers and are features of school work that are not only interesting but very beneficial in the way of instruction.

This morning the heaters in the Longfellow building at Fifth and Kentucky avenue were not working properly and the rooms were cold. The heaters in this building have been a source of much trouble to the teachers. Last year they were overhauled but do not seem to be much improved.

The cold weather has not lowered the attendance at the schools much except in the primary grades where the little children have to walk so far. A few pupils are kept at home during the extreme cold weather but not enough to make a perceptible change in the attendance.

ENTERPRISE, INGENUITY AND ORIGINALITY.

Say something against Lax Fos in the presence of those who have taken it and you'll be sorry. Every person using Lax Fos will tell you an interesting story of how it cured them.

Lax Fos is the very latest example of medical enterprise, ingenuity and originality. Those who have been sick, and others, say, Lax Fos is the best medicine made. To make it a little better than any other remedy even though it cost more is an investment and not an expense to the S. H. Winstead Medicine Co. No advertisement is equal to having people say Lax Fos is the best. To succeed in any business give the consumer more than you promise. That is done in Lax Fos. It cures indigestion, constipation, kidney and liver trouble. Its good effects are felt at once. Take no substitute. The genuine is sold on the money back plan by druggists everywhere.

BISHOP DUDLEY DESIRED A PLAIN FUNERAL.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 27.—Yielding to the wishes of the family, who knew Bishop Dudley's sentiments about such matters, it has been decided not to allow the body of Bishop Dudley to lie in state at the Cathedral. The body lay at the late residence until time for the funeral.

Holy communion was celebrated at 10 o'clock this morning, at which service all the clergymen of the diocese, wearing purple robes, were present in the chancel, and all communicants of the church were expected to attend.

The funeral services over the body were held at the Cathedral this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the Right Rev. Daniel F. Tuttle, presiding bishop of the American church, conducting the services.

He was assisted by Bishop Francis, of Indianapolis; Bishop Burton, of Lexington; Bishop Peterkin, of West Virginia; Bishop Vincent, of Southern Ohio, and probably others. By request of the family the Louisville clergy acted as active pall bearers and the vestrymen of the local churches were the honorary pall bearers.

SOME SUFFERING

AMONG RAILROAD MEN BE-CAUSE OF THE COLD.

The engine crew which brought in train No. 103 this morning, report much suffering among the railroad men at Central City.

The weather there is reported much colder than at Paducah and several laborers in the cinder pits had their hands and feet frostbitten. They were huddled together in the depot when the crew arrived.

The railroad men report little trouble on the road from the cold weather. This morning a few pipes in engine tanks were frozen but they are quickly thawed out and the round house employees will not permit any delays from this cause of trouble.

LI MUST GET WELL.

Pekin, China, Jan. 27.—Li Lien Jing, the favorite of the old empress of China, known to the diplomatic corps as the Chinese "John Brown," may cause a dozen of the most eminent physicians of China to commit suicide, for, when Li fell ill her majesty called together the leading physicians and sternly commanded them to cure her favorite. Of course, being very fond of their heads, the saw-bones promised, whereupon the empress politely asked and sternly coerced them to sign papers to that effect. Now, if Li dies, which is likely, for he is an old opium fiend, the doctors will have to commit harikari, which is the penalty for not keeping one's promise to a Chinese majesty. It consists of sticking a knife in one's stomach and turning it around a few times, after a certain disagreeable fashion.

MINERS' CONVENTION.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 27.—The United Mine workers accepted the report of the scale committee. Indianapolis was selected for the next national convention. While the report of the scale committee has not been made public it is understood the miners ask the operators to resign the run of mine mining scale in the four districts; ask that the absolute run of mine basis be adopted; that the differential of 7 cents in Illinois be established in Indiana, where the differential is 10 to 12 cents, and in Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, where it ranges from 12 to 25 cents. There is also a demand for uniform wages for all outside labor and uniform wages for inside labor, which, it is understood on good authority, is placed at $2.56, the present rate, in most parts of Indiana. There are several demands of minor consideration.

SELF-CONFESSED THIEF.

Clarksville, Tenn., Jan. 27.—Chas. Vincent, the self-confessed thief of two horses, has been placed in jail here. He stole one horse from J. Arvin and the other from Buckner Campbell, both of whom live near Hopkinsville, Ky. The thefts took place soon after Christmas. Both horses were recovered and restored to their owners. They were in the possession of parties to whom they had been traded by Vincent.

An effort is being made to secure the pardon of Johnson Hatfield, sentenced to the penitentiary for life for murder in connection with the McCoy-Hatfield feud.

SECRETARY HANNA GOES TO MARION SUNDAY.

Mr. S. B. Hanna, secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., will go to Marion, Ky., Sunday to assist Mr. O. B. Van Horn, secretary of the state committee, in holding a young men's meeting at Marion.

Little Miss Emma Squier, a ten year old impersonator and elocutionist, has been secured for February 4th to give a recital here for the benefit of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A.

Many tickets to the Dr. Burrows Jenkins series of lectures to begin February 12th have been sold and Secretary Hanna thinks he will sell enough in the next few days to more than cover Prof. Jenkins' expenses here.

CURED LUMBAGO.

A. B. Canman, Chicago, writes March 4, 1903: "Having been troubled with lumbago at different times and tried one physician after another; then different ointments and liniments, gave it up altogether. So I tried once more, and got a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment, which gave me almost instant relief. I can cheerfully recommend it, and will add my name to your list of former sufferers." 25c, 50c and $1.

DR. HUNTER BREAKS RIBS.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—Representative Hunter, of Kentucky, is confined to his bed with two broken ribs caused by a fall on the Capitol steps. The doctor at the time was accompanied by his wife and was hurrying to keep a dinner engagement. The Representative's son, Godfrey Hunter, Jr., who acts as his secretary, reports that his father was getting along nicely and expected to be up in a few days.

PLEASANT AND MOST EFFECTIVE.

T. J. Chambers, Ed. Vindicator, Liberty, Texas, writes December 25, 1902: "With pleasure and unsolicited by you, I bear testimony to the curative power of Ballard's Horehound Syrup. I have used it in my family and can cheerfully affirm it is the most effective and pleasant remedy for coughs and colds I have ever used." 25c, 50c and $1. Sold by DuBois, Kolb & Co.

TOM LOVELACE BACK.

Fulton, Ky., Jan. 27.—Mr. Thos. H. Lovelace, secretary to Congressman O. M. James, has returned from Washington. Mr. Lovelace was injured by a fall two weeks ago in which a ligament in his right knee was broken, and it will take several months to heal properly. Mr. Lovelace will remain in Fulton until he recovers and will assume the management of the Daily Leader.

IMPERFECT DIGESTION.

Means less nutrition and in consequence less vitality. When the liver fails to secrete bile, the blood becomes loaded with bilious properties, the digestion becomes impaired and the bowels constipated. THE CONTEST ENDS APRIL 30.

A study of the schedule of votes below will show you the value of advance subscriptions. Subscriptions paid in January will entitle the subscriber to just four times the number of votes the same subscription will be entitled to in April, the last month of the contest. Subscriptions paid in February, three times, in March two times.

Subscriptions for three months will entitle the subscribers for more than three times one month, six months for a good deal more than six times, and twelve months for much more than twelve times. Thus will be seen the great inducement offered subscriptions for three, six and twelve months, and for payments in the first month and so on.

THE STROLLERS

By FREDERIC S. ISHAM,

Author of "Under the Rose"

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

Beneath the spreading trees were assembled a group of persons variously disposed. A little dapper man was bending over a case of instruments, as merry a soul as ever adjusted a lig-ature or sewed a wound. Beribboned and lemotored the Count de Propriet, acting for the land baron, and Barnes, who had accompanied the soldier, were consulting over the weapons, a magnificent pair of rapiers with costly steel guards, set with initials and a coronet. Member of an ancient society of France which yet sought to perpetuate the memory of the old judicial combat and the more modern duel, the count was one of those persons who think they are in honor bound to bear a challenge without questioning the cause or asking the "color of a reason."
"A superb pair of weapons, count!"
observed the doctor, rising.
The count laughed and turned away with a businesslike air.

"Are you ready, gentlemen?"
At his words the contestants immediately took their positions. The land

He surveyed his prostrate antagonist, baron, lithe and supple, presented a picture of insolent and conscious pride.
his glance lighted by disdain, but smoldering with fierce passions as he examined and tested his blade.

"Engage!" exclaimed the count.

With ill concealed eagerness Mauville began a vigorous, although guarded, attack, as if asserting his supremacy
and at the same time testing his man.
The buzzing switch of the steel became angrier; the weapons glinted and gleamed, intertwining silently and separating with a swish. The patron's features glowed, his movements became quicker, and, executing a rapid parry, he lunged with a thrust so stealthy his blade was beaten down only as it touched the soldier's breast.

Mauville suddenly followed his momentary advantage with a dangerous lunge from below. Involuntarily Barnes looked away, but his wandering attention was immediately recalled. From the lips of the land baron burst an exclamation of mingled pain and anger.

Saint-Prosper had not only parried the thrust, but his own blade, by a rapid riposte, had grazed the shoulder of his foe.

Nor was the manager's surprise greater than that of the count. The latter, amazed that this unusual stratagem should have failed when directed by a wrist as trained and an eye as quick as Mauville's, now interposed.

"Enough!" he exclaimed, separating the contestants. "Honor has been satisfied."

"It is nothing!" cried the land baron fiercely. "His blade hardly touched me." In his exasperation and disappointment over his failure Mauville was scarcely conscious of his wound.

"I tell you it is nothing," he repeated.
"What do you say, Mr. Saint-Prosper?" asked the count.

"I am satisfied," returned the young man coldly.

"But I'm not!" reiterated the patron, restraining himself with difficulty. "It was understood we should continue until both were willing to stop!"

"No," interrupted the count suavely.
"It was understood you should continue if both were willing!"

"And you're not!" exclaimed the land baron, wheeling on Saint-Prosper. "Did you leave the army because—"

"Gentlemen, gentlemen! let us observe the proprieties!" expostulated the count. "Is it your intention, sir?" to Saint-Prosper—"not to grant my principal's request?"

A fierce new anger gleamed from the soldier's eyes, completely transforming his expression and bearing. His glance quickly swept from the count to Mau-ville at the studied insult of the latter's words; on his cheek burned a dark red spot.

"Let it go!"

The count stepped nimbly from his position between the two men. Again the swords crossed. The count's glance bent itself more closely on the figure of the soldier, noting now how superbly poised was his body, what reserves of strength were suggested by the white, muscular arm! His wrist moved like a machine, lightly brushing aside the thrusts. Had it been but accident that Mauville's unlooked for expedient had failed?

But the land baron's zest only appeared to grow in proportion to the resistance he encountered; the lust for fighting increased with the music of the blades. For some moments he feinted and lunged, seeking an opening, however slight. Again he appeared bent upon forcing a quick conclusion, for suddenly with a rush he sought to break over Saint-Prosper's guard and succeeded in wounding the other slightly in the forehead. Now, sure of his man, Mauville sprang at him savagely.

But, dashing the blood from his eyes with his free hand and without giving way, Saint-Prosper met the assault with a wrist of iron, and the land baron failed to profit by what had seemed a certain advantage. The wound had the effect of making the soldier more cautious, and eye, foot and hand were equally true.

In his fury that his chance had slipped away, after wounding and, as he supposed, blinding his opponent Mau-ville, throwing prudence to the winds, recklessly attempted to repeat his rash expedient, and this time the steel of his antagonist gleamed like quicksilver, passing beneath his arm and inflicting a slight flesh wound. Something resembling a look of apprehension crossed the land baron's face. "I have underestimated him!" he thought.
"The next stroke will be driven nearer home."

He felt no fear, however; only mute, helpless rage. In the soldier's hand the dainty weapon was a thing of marvelous cunning. His vastly superior strength made him practically tireless in his play. Not only tireless; he suddenly accelerated the tempo of the exercise, but behind this unexpected, even passionate, awakening the spectators felt an unvarying accuracy, a steely coldness of purpose. The blades clicked faster; they met and parted more viciously; the hard light in Saint-Prosper's eyes grew brighter as he slowly thrust back his antagonist.

Mauville became aware his own vigor was slowly failing him. Instead of pressing the other he was now obliged to defend himself. He strove to throw off the lethargy irresistibly stealing over him, to shake the leaden movements from his limbs. He vainly endeavored to penetrate the mist falling before his eyes and to overcome the dizziness that made his foe seem like a figure in a dream. Was it through loss of blood or weariness, or both? But he was cognizant his thrusts had lost force, his plunges vitality, and that even an element of chance prevailed in his parries. But he uttered no sound. When would that mist become dark and the golden day fuse into inky night?

Before the mist totally eclipsed his sight he determined to make one more supreme effort and again sprang forward, but was driven back with ease.
The knowledge that he was continuing a futile struggle smote him to the soul.
Gladly would he have welcomed the fatal thrust if first he could have sent his blade through that breast which so far had been impervious to his efforts.
Now the scene went round and round.
The golden day became crimson, scarlet, then gray, leaden, somber. Incunately he bent his arm to counter an imaginary lunge, and his antagonist thrust out his rapier like a thing of life, transfixing Mauville's sword arm.

He stood his ground bravely for a moment, playing feebly into space, expecting the fatal stroke. When would it come? Then the slate colored hues were swallowed in a black cloud. But while his mind passed into unconsciousness his breast was openly presented to his antagonist, and even the count shuddered.

With his blade at guard Saint-Prosper remained motionless. The land baron staggered feebly and then sank softly to the earth. That fatal look, the expression of a duelist, vanished from the soldier's face, and, allowing the point of his weapon to drop to the ground, he surveyed his prostrate antagonist.

"Done like a gentleman!" cried the count, breathing more freely. "You had him at your mercy, sir!" to Saint-Prosper—"and spared him."

A cold glance was the soldier's only response, as without a word he turned brusquely away. Meanwhile the doctor, hastening to Mauville's side, opened his shirt.

"He is badly hurt?" asked Barnes anxiously of the surgeon.

"No; only fainted from loss of blood," replied that gentleman cheerfully. "He will be around again in a day or two."

The land baron soon regained consciousness and walked, with the assistance of the count, to his carriage.
As they were about to drive away the sound of a vehicle was heard drawing near, and soon it appeared followed by another equipage. Both stopped at the confines of the Oaks and the friends of the thickest man, Susan's admirer, and the young lad on whom she had smiled alighted.

Civil War Veteran's Advice Saved Philadelphia Man's Life.

Again Despair is Turned Into Victory by the Famous Tonic PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

"ALL RUN DOWN"—NERVOUS AND HAD DYSPEPSIA.
S. J. Bunkin's Case Like Thousands of Other Sufferers.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 26, 1903.—
"Two bottles of Paine's Celery Compound convinced me that I had at last discovered a remedy that proved a permanent cure for a run-down system, nervousness, liver complaints and dyspepsia, from which I suffered untold agony for years.

"Other so-called cures which I spent small fortunes on proved worthless and seemed only to make my complication all the more severe. For years I suffered from a general run-down system that was gradually drawing me nearer,
day by day, to my last resting place.

"I was losing weight rapidly, could eat but very little—after which I suffered intensely. In less than a year I was reduced almost to a skeleton. After trying several prominent physicians, all of whom told me that my case was puzzling, without in the least benefiting my condition, I gave up in despair, believing my disease incurable. I had taken any quantity of medicine advertised, but they were no good.

"Paine's Celery Compound was recommended to me by an old Civil War veteran whom I met in a public park. His praise of the infallible remedy was so great I decided to give it a trial.

"I purchased two bottles, and before I had finished taking it a change for the better in my condition made its appearance. I continued to take the medicine and my health of former years came back rapidly. I gained weight, became active and vigorous, and after taking five bottles of the great tonic I was entirely cured.

"Today I weigh more than ever before in my life, my nerves have gained their normal condition, and my health in general is perfect. I give praise to nothing but Paine's Celery Compound, and would not be without this great remedy."—S. J. BUNKIN, 332 Manton St.

long as it benefits me so much I shall Theatrical Notes.

Manager English has booked Miss
May Stockton in "A Little Onset" for March 19.

A contest for the most popular unmarried lady in Paducah has been inaugurated at The Kentucky theater.
Manager J. E. English will give to the winner a box for the Tim Murphy performance next Wednesday evening.
He is giving away a vote with every 30 cent ticket purchased for the Howard-Dorset company, beginning tomorrow night. It is expected that a large number of votes will be cast.

The Howard-Dorset company last night enjoyed by a large crowd in "The Winning Hand." The company is here known to be one of the best on the road, and pretty weather would bring out a packed house. Mr. Howard was met with the usual ovation and loudly applauded. He sustained the role of Martin Ferrett, an eccentric lawyer, a laugh producing part in a very capable manner, and stamped him as a comedian of high order. Miss Flora Dorset was heartily greeted, aided by her attractive mannerism, charming individuality, and dramatic ability assured the patrons of the house a capable personation of her part. The usual matinee was omitted today, owing to the fact the play intended to be presented for matinee can not be offered the new member of the company having not yet arrived. Tonight either "The Fisherman's Daughter" or "The Man From Mexico" will be the play. Judging from the way in which last night's play was received a large audience will no doubt be present. "The Man From Mexico," one of the greatest of comedy successes ever written from the pen of H. Du Souchet, also author of "My Friend
From India" and other well known successes, will possibly be offered tonight. It was this piece that Willie Collier played to high prices from coast to coast and the play itself made a decided hit, and to witness a performance of "The Man From Mexico" at popular prices produced by an excellent company will certainly be a treat.
Mr. Howard claims the role that he will play in this piece is his pet part,
and those who have seen him in the piece while playing in the near vicinity of Paducah, say that his conception of Benjamin Fitzhew cannot be questioned. An entire change of specialties and illustrated songs and moving pictures will be given between acts every night.

SONGS OF THE DAY.

WAITING.

She trips to me across the grass, my little lass, my little lass,
The birds call to her as they pass, the daisies kiss her feet, O,
The golden kingcups nod and sway
along her way, along her way,
As if they, too, this happy day, the dainty maid would greet, O.

And listen! With a liquid gush a mistlethrush, a lover thrush, Pours out across the evening hush a welcome from the wheat, O.

Till all the green field seems astir with love of her, with love of her,
And ev'ry feathered chorister is caroling my sweet, O.

She droops her eyes as she draws near, but ah, my dear, but ah, my dear!

Your roses tell the tale you fear your bright eyes to repeat, O;
And I—I stand beside the stile, and wait the while and watch the while,

Till I shall catch your sunny smile,
and heart to heart shall beat, O.

—Vincent F. Howard.
